

Project Management Certification: Is it Right for You?

Come review the Project Management Certifications available at Montgomery College and see what we can do for you!

February 2, 2012 • 5:30–8:30 p.m.

Gaithersburg Business Training Center, Rm. 402/403

Cost: FREE!

Learn what Project Management Certification can do for you in your professional career. Our instructor will explain both the education and experience required to be allowed to take the Project Management Certification exams.

You will also learn:

- The best way to approach the application process
- How much time is required to complete the application
- The time required for PMI's review of your application
- How the Certified Associate in Project Management (CAPM)[®] is different from the Project Management Professional (PMP)[®] certification.

Our instructor will provide information about textbooks, reading requirements, homework, and the excellent study materials and practice exams available for PMP[®] and CAPM[®] candidates training at Montgomery College.

After this workshop, those planning to take the PMP[®] exam should also take MGT374 The PMP Exam: How To Take (and Pass) It! (CRN 35452)

Space is limited. Please e-mail transcie.almonte@montgomerycollege.edu to reserve a seat.

Montgomery College is a Project Management Institute (PMI)[®] registered education provider and courses are approved for Project Management Certification Training.
