About Montgomery College

Montgomery College is one of Maryland's oldest community colleges, with campuses at Germantown, Rockville, and Takoma Park/Silver Spring. Located in Montgomery County, Maryland, just adjacent to Washington, D.C., Montgomery College is one of the largest undergraduate institutions in the state.

The Arts at Montgomery College

Montgomery College offers a vibrant visual arts program at each of its campuses for students and members of the community. The College's close proximity to Washington, D.C.'s cultural resources provides students and faculty access to contemporary art galleries and the Smithsonian Institution—the finest museums in the world.

The Arts Institute

The Arts Institute at Montgomery College provides exceptional arts experiences and learning opportunities for students, faculty, and the community. Through the Arts Institute, students have had opportunities to study abroad in such locations as Italy and China, and have internship opportunities at various art museums. The Arts Institute has sponsored lectures with metal sculptors Albert Paley and Wendell Castle, and workshops with Jack da Silva, Leonard Urso, Linda Threadgill, Harold O'Conner, Paulette Myers, and Kye-Yeon Son and Hyung-Kyu Lee from Korea. The institute has also brought ceramic artists such as Bruce Bowers, Marvin Sweet, Helio Gutierrez from Nicaragua, and Hui Wang and Zhengzhong Zhang from China to present workshops at the College.

Sarah Silberman Art Gallery

The Sarah Silberman Art Gallery is an educational resource of the Rockville Campus Art Department. Its primary function is to augment, enhance, and promote the teaching and understanding of art through a diverse program of changing exhibitions, benefiting Montgomery College and the public.

The gallery is located on the second floor of the Paul Peck Art Building on the Rockville Campus, 51 Mannakee Street, Rockville, MD 20850. Gallery hours: Monday–Friday, 10 a.m.–4 p.m. Call 240-567-5115 or visit www.montgomerycollege.edu/artrockville.
